BACKGROUND INFO:

Bruiser is one of the top enforcers for the Cold Zero Clan. He disdains ranged weapons, usually donning black armor and bullrushing his opponents to get the quick upper hand. He is an unmatched hand-to-hand fighter and wrestler, enjoying every bone-crunching blow he inflicts on his adversaries.

Bruiser is not the brightest individual, but he knows who's side he is on: anyone against the Agency. Agency operatives under the direction of handler Miles Land broke into his apartment in late 1992 looking for a female enemy agent. Bruiser wasn't there, but his fiance Angela Reshnavik was. She was killed by an overzealous up-and-coming secret agent named Rex Foster.

At first Bruiser tried to commit suicide by doing all manners of drugs, but his powerful body would not let go. Cold Zero Clan members approached him and asked if he wanted to take his fiance's place in their organization. Bruiser accepted under the condition that Miles Land was his to do with as he wanted if the opportunity arose.
