BACKGROUND INFO:

Growing up an only child, Braeden was always keeping himself busy with anything that would get him out of the house. Called the "Renaissance man of the outdoors," he excelled at everything nature. His parents indulged his passion by providing him with any means needed to learn everything from rock climbing and scuba diving, to white water rafting and mountain biking. As he got older he got into more extreme sport like sky diving and bungy jumping, even base jumping. He's a vegetarian with a big heart and is a true environmental activist. He graduated from the University of Colorado in Boulder with a major in Geological Science and a minor in Japanese Language and Civilization, as he's very close with their philosophies towards culture and the earth. Before the agency recruited him for his obvious terrain abilities and athletic prowess, he was a white water rafting instructor/tour guide on the Arkansas River on the Royal Gorge just outside of Canon City, Colorado.
