BACKGROUND INFO:

Gregory Simms was born and raised in Texas. He is extremely protective of the innocents under his protection, no matter what operation he is on. His brother, a cocaine addict since high school, died in a drug deal gone bad when Gregory was 30. The killers were never brought to justice.

Simms always felt he was cut out for a career in law enforcement. After high school he entered and graduated from the Dallas, TX Police Academy with highest honors. He eventually moved on to Vice Squad, hoping to do anything possible to slow down the drug trade and the murders that happened because of them.

Weary of the battle, Simms nearly quit altogether, sensing that not enough could be done. That was when Agency operatives approached him with an offer he could not refuse: a chance to strike back at terrorists and their illegal trades worldwide. He accepted, knowing that a proactive approach was needed to combat the evil in the world.
