BACKGROUND INFO:

Born in Seward Alaska, Alof doesn't like the ocean and left his family's small commercial fishing business to drag race professionally when he was 17. After realizing he liked to build fast cars almost as much as race them, Alof received a BS in Mechanical Design from the University of Alaska.

Alof was approached by the Agency while he was working as chief mechanic for several semi-pro racing teams. They told him he "possessed a unique combination of mechanical and racing skills", but all Alof wanted to do was work with state-of-the-art equipment and race real cars, real fast, on real roads.
