BACKGROUND INFO:

Little is known about Goddard before he found his way into the youth detention system in Melbourne at age 14. He bounced between prison and the outside world often in his adult life, usually landing back behind bars after a brawl or other confrontation he wouldn't back down from.

While in jail he was prone to many stints in solitary confinement, usually from fights where he had a reputation for putting men in the infirmary after one solid punch. This reputation is what got Goddard noticed by the Rugan crime family, who recruited him into their ranks immediately. He is now Boss Rugan's most trusted enforcer.

Has been on contract with the Agency for some time, and is usually used in networks operations where traditional methods are not an option.
