MISSION BRIEFING:

The Black Boa is a Peruvian leftist rebel brigade led by one Fernando Sanchez. He is responsible for many deaths of civilians and political members of government over the past three years. He also takes responsibility for the fifty children that were killed in a suicide bombing of a government building that housed a child daycare facility within. His whereabouts were not known, until the Agency has found out that his brother, Pedro Sanchez, has defected from the group and is willing to trade the location of their hidden base camp in exchange for safe passage to the United States. Your mission is to find out the location of the Black Boa base camp and destroy it. The Agency will provide your team with sixteen pounds of plastic explosives and various detonating devices to complete the mission. Rendezvous with your contact at the designated time and place to retrieve the location of the Black Boa base camp. Escort the contact back to the International Airport, where a plane ticket will be waiting, and his departure to the United States. Acquire transportation into the Amazon Basin and to the location of the base camp, to destroy any and all base camp facilities, supplies and rebels. The Agency has lifted any limitation on casualties for this mission.

MISSION DEBRIEFING:

Mission completed 8:15 pm on 06/24/2006.

Agents flew to Lima, Peru where they rendezvoused with Pedro Sanchez. Agents received a map of the Black Boa base camp with trajectory coordinates in which they requested and obtained a location conformation and reconnaissance of the area from the Agency. The Agents believed and relayed back to the Agency that Pedro Sanchez was intentionally lying about his involvement with the Black Boa so Agency measures were taken upon his arrival, where he later was very willing to cooperate. Agents got in touch with a contact and hired the services of a pilot who flew them in a floatplane that landed on the Purus River 200 yards from the base camp. The Agents proceeded with extreme caution through the heavily dense jungle where they encountered patrol units armed with assault rifles and RPG's as they squelched the situation with the use of swords and brass knuckles, decapitating and concaving the heads of 2 of them before they alerted anyone. The Agents proceeded to plant 8 lbs of plastic explosives on top of the main building and another 4 lbs below one of the treetop lookouts; both set with radio detonators. The remaining 4 lbs were strategically set in the 8 lb blast radius below another treetop lookout, with no detonator. The Agents used strategic triangulation as all three sets of plastic explosives were detonated almost simultaneously in which the entire base camp was destroyed along with all Black Boa rebels and one Fernando Sanchez. The massive explosion of a hidden leftist rebel brigade ammunition site was leaked to the press by the Peruvian government, in attempts to conceal the mission. The cover story seems to have been successful.
