MISSION BRIEFING:

The Agency has just been informed that Agent Shiloh, who was recruited into the Agency a short time ago, has not checked back in from her surveillance mission in Las Vegas, NV. Her last know whereabouts and communication were from her room at the Treasure Island Hotel & Casino where she transmitted three out of four classified photos that she said she took, via a secured Agency line. The Agency is undecided on her true intentions and loyalty, due to her short service within the Agency, so precautions are in order. Your mission is to find and locate Agent Shiloh and bring her back to the Agency for further interrogation. Your presence in Las Vegas must be discreet, unless your team deems it necessary to break cover. Rendezvous with your contact at the designated time and place for further details.

MISSION DEBRIEFING:

Mission completed 11:15 am on 1-04-08. Agents made their way to Vegas and obtained vital information from their contact about Agent Shiloh and the hotel staff's recollection of accounts of the prior night. After some acquisitions of information from tourists and hotel staff, the Agents began to canvas the hotel's premises in hopes of locating where Agent Shiloh might have gone. A bold move to break into Shiloh's Penthouse proved invaluable to the mission, as an invisible cipher left my Agent Shiloh was found written on the bathroom mirror, but not before Agents reluctantly engaged in a firefight with a couple of lackeys left to guard the room. After dispatching the guards with ease, the team proceeded to unravel the encrypted cipher using many different forms and techniques including Spiral, Substitution and Transposition methods. The cipher led Agents to the whereabouts of a hidden flash drive containing four pictures, in which one was of a bomb stashed in a celebration cake for the ATF convention. Agents make quick work of clearing out the ATF convention as they faked a gas leak inside the hotel, evacuated everyone, so as Agent Mouse could successfully defused the 1-pound bomb of C4. The catering company's name was found as Agents feverously vacated the hotel and made their way to the catering company's address. Inside the warehouse, a brief acknowledgement of Agent Shiloh's presence was established, when suddenly everything went south and a massive melee and gunfight ensued between two bodyguards and Agent Shiloh. After the team eliminated the perpetrators of the bomb, it was revealed that Agent Shiloh was knocked out, impersonated and held captive before completing her mission, which she was later exonerated by the Agency of all charges.
