ORGANIZATION BACKGROUND:

Our Lady of Redemption was taken over by the owner of a financial company named Nathan Jorgens, a newly-ordained minister complete with certificate printed off of the internet. He holds a large quantity of land south of Salem, where he has made his home.

Our Lady of Redemption was bought at a very nice price when the aging minister that resided there died in a fire that consumed the old church. Citizens of the close-knit town were devastated at the loss, and are resentful of Jorgens' new church rebuilt on the ashes of the old.

Still, the church has recently enjoyed a massive influx of churchgoers, with Jorgens at the pulpit.
