ORGANIZATION BACKGROUND:

Little is know as to the internal specifics regarding this group because of their absorbtion into another mining organization. Most paperwork and all employee ties have vansihed. What's know is River Frost was brought to the attention of the Zimbabwe government in 1975 and became taxed for their exports to neighboring countries. Government rumored to have smuggled millions worth of rough, uncut diamonds out of Africa. Investigation into the means of transport and transporters was severed in 2001 when a competing mining organization in South Africa abruptly absorbed River Frost and paid off officials, substantially, to turn cheek on the matters.
